Dad is coming home at noon.

Bitu is very happy!

She wants to make
macadamia sponge cake.
It's Dad's favorite cake.
But the macadamia has run
out.

That's okay, Bitu can pick
some from their tree.
Hook and shake the branch!

Hooray!

The unripe fruit is too soft.
It also does not taste good.

Bitu is looking for a ripe
fruit.

But how will she open it?

Adik presses the macadamia really hard.

Oh no! The fruit is bouncing away.

Gotcha!

Bitu quickly catches it.

Aha!

Bitu knows what to do.

She will break it open with a stone.

It isn't easy at all!

What about borrowing
Mom's tool?
It is a candlenut splitter.

It works!

Bitu, Adik, and Mom work together.

The sponge cake batter is ready.

It's time to sprinkle the macadamia fruit slices.

Sprinkle... sprinkle!

Bitu patiently waits for the sponge cake to be done.
It has a delicious aroma!

The macadamia sponge
cake is finally done.
Dad will be so happy!

The Litara Foundation was established in 2014. It aims to improve the literacy skills of Indonesian children. The founders and activists of Litara consist of teachers, writers, illustrators, editors, translators, academics, practitioners, and education consultants. Litara's work includes developing and publishing quality books, training and assisting teachers and communities for literacy activities in schools and Community Reading Gardens, creating literacy and numeracy modules for teachers, training writers and illustrators, donating books, conducting research on children's literacy, and building partnerships or strategic collaborations.

KIBA (Kelas Ilustrasi dan Desain Buku Anak) under the DKV Study Program of FSRD ITB is a course aimed at facilitating knowledge, research, workshops, and collaborations to improve the quality of illustrations in children's books, particularly in Indonesia.
